| Your organisation Describe the type of organisation and include a good description of your own areas of activities/fields. | Leila d.o.o. is an education and research organisation established in 1989 and has in the last years mainly focused on the preschool activities. It includes a kindergarten, publishes books for parents and children and works on research projects. One of our important themes is Work – family balance. |
| Project idea Provide a brief description of the project idea, what you want to achieve and how you plan to achieve it. These information should give an idea of what is planned, but be open enough for the donor project partner to influence. | The project intends to establish several local systems in Slovenia that will contribute to the work – family balance and will connect families, kindergartens, municipalities and work organizations in different parts of Slovenia. The project will help parents of preschool children and especially women to better organize family life. It will make a survey and analysis of legal documents, policies and practices that support work-life balance and publish it on the web site. It will suggest more forms of flexible work and a new culture of work in families. The project will also develop the necessary knowledge and skills and suggest practical solutions that will enable a better work and family balance. |
| Relevance of potential donor project partner Based on your research show why you have identified this particular potential donor project partner to be relevant, for example does the organisational type match, similar or complementary experiences, etc. | We would like to cooperate with a Norwegian partner that could help us with Norwegian experiences in the field of the work-family balance. We are especially interested in Norwegian practices of flexible work and in the division of work in the families in which both parents are employed. The partner can be a research or educational organisation or a freelance adviser who has experiences with work-family balance. |
